St. Giles' Country Fair is new again!

Believe it or not the St. Giles' Country Fair is a short three months away! Your Fair Committee has been hard at work since August 2009. We have had monthly planning meetings producing lots of creative ideas and laying the groundwork for what we know will be a very successful 2010 Country Fair. We have some new ideas that we believe will revitalize the fair in these tough economic times and still retain the historic charm and appeal of a beloved St. Giles' tradition.

Something new! This year we will be serving a Lobster Roll Luncheon (yum!) instead of having the traditional chicken barbecue. Several concerns went into making this decision. In a small parish it is difficult to recruit enough volunteers to take charge of the many facets of the Fair. For years we were fortunate that the Antononi family handled the entire chicken barbecue, recruiting their family and friends to fill various roles. Then there was Bob's "secret sauce"! The Antononis decided to take a much deserved break from the barbecue business, which left us with many volunteer positions to fill and not enough people to fill them. Other considerations were the cost of chicken which has risen each year. There are also several other chicken barbecues happening around our fair date. So, we decided it was time to step out of our comfort zone and try something new! Many thanks to those of you from in and outside the parish who helped make the 2009 barbecue work. Be sure to check out our new Country Fair signs! Thanks to Bill McKeen our designer and to Dick Pickering and Ken

Marden for all their hard work!

Something new #2! We will be having entertainment this year during the fair. Pixie Lauer and friend, well known folk singers, will be performing following the auction. We may also have a wonderful clown/mime mingling with fair goers.

Something new #3 We are trying to make many small changes to help the fair run more efficiently with fewer people—easier access to our wonderful Heavenly Pies, more room to peruse our book selections, and some "other" exciting things that you will just have to come to the fair to experience!

Did you know that the proceeds from the fair are part of the St. Giles operating budget? Each year a certain percentage of fair profits are set aside for outreach and the rest goes toward the actual operating costs of the church. What we made as a profit in 2009 is figured into the projected budget for 2010. The St. Giles' Fair is an important part of the fiscal health of the church.

What can you do to help?

1. Obviously, volunteer or say yes when asked. It is a wonderful day of fun and fellowship. We have our booth/committee chair people in place but they need lots of help. Contact Debbie King or Deb Lipton Morin to see where you are most needed or perhaps you have a certain area that is calling you!

2. You can make sure you attend the fair and encourage all your friends, neighbors and relatives to do the same. Spread the word! This is a community fair. Our outreach efforts benefit many area towns.

3. Think about your talents, resources, and areas of expertise. Donate them to the auction or raffle.

4. Approach people you know or do business with to donate items or services to the auction/raffle. Contact Deb Lipton Morin 226-3787 when you have an idea or donation.

5. If you are unable to work at or attend the fair there are lots of other ways you can assist. There are many low cost items that could be donated prior to the fair thereby reducing our cost and increasing the profit. See Dotti Meyer for a list of those items. Distribution of fliers, making phone calls, copying, and making posters for fair day are just a few areas that can be taken care of pre-fair. We also need items for the Country Store, especially if you have a favorite craft to share.

6. Once again, our auction has been a BIG money maker so please search for items that you or people you know would like to donate. If you have any questions contact Cathey Sell 549-3513.

Remember to mark your calendars for July 31, 2010! Fair time is 9:00 AM to 2:00 PM with the auction from 10 to 12 (donuts and coffee available), hot dogs and fried onions on the grill by 9:30, and the lobster luncheon ready to "roll" by 12:00. Check your Pine Hill Press and the parish hall regularly for updates and information. Feel free to attend any of our fair meetings held the first Monday of the month, 7:00 PM at the church.

Camp St. Giles'

This year St. Giles' will be holding its second "Camp St. Giles'" in June, from the 26th through the 28th. This earlier date is an effort to meet the needs of more children and families before we all scatter for summer vacation. Our theme will be "God is the Captain of our Ship". As you might imagine, we will be learning about how to let God guide our decisions, and how important it is to have faith even when it seems like you are alone. JUST THINK of the "well" of water related Bible stories from which we will be able to "draw"! We are looking for volunteers of all types – hands on volunteers, people to go shopping for items, people to make food, organizers, word-spreaders...you name it! Please call Meegan Burbank at 549-3851 or Dotti Meyer at 549-7452 to let us know how you can help!

ECW

The April meeting of ECW will be Tuesday, April 13th at Brigid Gibson-Griffin's home in Whitefield. We will carpool from the church at 12:10 if you need a ride.

Please bring a bag lunch, Brigid will provide dessert and drinks.

Pine Hill Nursery School

The children at Pine Hill have been having a wonderful time creating masterpieces of art using different mediums. We made drawings with only lines using markers, pictures using dot markers (like Bingo markers). We experimented with color values using red, white and black paints, and texture using sugar, glue and paint. Then we copied Monet's Garden with watercolors and Van Gogh's Sunflowers with recycled cardboard, poster paint and real sunflower seeds. We are having so much fun we plan to continue through April creating art with leftover supplies and recyclable materials we've collected. We have a very artistic class!

Jen St. Cyr and I have agreed that we must cut back our class sizes for next year. The phone is ringing and we are filling up fast. If you have a youngster or know someone who is ready to attend preschool in the fall, please contact us soon. Our school year ends just before Memorial Day Weekend.

Dear Parish Family,

Jesus did well in math in elementary school! It is obvious that he not only understood how to put numbers together, but he also figured out the logic between numbers and people. In particular, he loved the number 12.

Ever since Pam and I returned home from a fantastic week visiting with the people of Trinity Church in Apalachicola, I have realized the simple wisdom of Jesus' arithmetic. Let me explain.

In a short period of time at the end of February, I had the opportunity to preach at two Sunday services, attend a dinner hosted by Dick and Jane Pickering in their home for the rector and vestry of Trinity, attend a Lenten supper and discussion group, visit at least three parishioners in their homes and spend a morning with Martha Harris, the inspiring rector of Trinity. The purpose of the trip in the first place was to float a trial balloon. Over a year ago, Dick Pickering and the Junior Warden of Trinity, Gary Ulrich, were painting the church (are we surprised?!). Gary made an innocent comment to Dick that went something like this: "Hey, Dick, you paint the church here and in Jefferson, Maine. What would you think about Trinity people coming up to Maine and St. Giles' people coming down here?" The light went on...thanks to the vision Dick got from Gary. As we know so well in Maine, from small acorns, tall oaks grow!

I love the idea because it fits so closely with the simple arithmetic of the gospels. The statistics of the last decade prove beyond a doubt that nearly every parish church in the United States is losing people in the pews faster than new members are taking their place. I believe the simple reason is that we have lost clarity of our mission and we have not created opportunities in which we lead our people to understand that money follows mission, rather than the other way around. Mission must come first if the local parish church will survive.

A mission relationship between St. Giles' and Trinity is the opportunity to send forth a dozen or so disciples so they can learn about the mission of Christ amid the hospitality of a different place. Jesus chose twelve and sent them out two by two. This Jefferson-Apalachicola partnership has the potential to be a teaching moment (or week) as the faithful are received with the love of Christ in either Maine or Florida and become the heart and hands of Jesus in a service project in each place. The simple math is that if the mission partnership can continue for at least three years with these mutual mission trips, by the end of three years each parish can have roughly thirty-six individuals who have had the hands-on experience of serving Jesus.

Because these are new concepts for many, I'd suggest that the first trip (which is proposed for late July and early August this year when the Trinity folks come to Maine) be exploratory. Let's do our best to create a model and wait to "sign-on" until after the first trip north is over. After all, it took Wilbur and Orville a while to get the first plane off the ground!

I know from knowing the people of St. Giles' and meeting lots of Trinity people in one week that there are huge amounts of faith, energy and leadership in both places. I also know that Jesus' simple model of sending out just twelve followers in groups of two transformed the world. That simple math is why we are here today and it gives me enormous hope in this upcoming season of Resurrection.

Sincerely and faithfully,

John

United Thank Offering News Update

United Thank Offering Spring Ingathering – Sunday May 16th

The United Thank Offering awarded sixty-three grants this year, totaling $2,065,472.43, twenty-eight within the US and thirty-five overseas. In a letter from Barbi Tinder, Convener of the Communications Committee for the United Thank Offering, she states there are more dollars requested than there are funds to distribute.

Every day there are prayers and blessings in our life that can be remembered by placing money in the blue box. New in this electronic age is another way to contribute. Go to the Episcopal Church website, www.episcopalchurch.org, and click on the red button "Give to the Episcopal Church" and select UTO. You will be joining the "circle of thankful people" providing help in many parts of the world and at home.

Bring your blue box or a check on Sunday May 16th and join us in this effort to expand this mission. We encourage daily prayers, offerings and awareness of the abundance of God's blessings.

For more information see the UTO 2009 Grants list on the table in Jewett Hall.

Study on Buddhism begins April 25th

The first of three meetings about Buddhism will open on Sunday April 25th in Jewett Hall immediately after coffee hour. Titled "What is Buddhism?" it will include presentation and discussion of history and some key ideas in Buddhism. Tom Eichler and Cynthia White will share some personal stories of experiences with Buddhism and will be joined by guest Doris Balant, member of a Zen buddhist group in Augusta.

Background material in the form of two booklets, collections of Buddhist teachings and history, compiled by Cynthia White, will be available several Sundays in advance in copies to be taken home. Books about Buddhism to peruse and borrow will also be available.

On Sunday, May 2nd, the second meeting "What is Meditation?" will offer explanation, instruction and guided meditation by Bill Barry, Director of the Buddhist Shambala Center in Brunswick.

On Sunday, June 6th, the last session addresses the question: "What can

The vestry, parish leaders, a few interested parishioners, and Fr. Van Siclen met with the Rev. David Robinson on March 13 for a retreat which would be focused on beginning a strategic plan for St. Giles.

We began the day with a reflection on the gospel lesson found at Luke 5:36-38. It served as an inspiration for new beginnings. With that concept in mind, we addressed the need for, and the language of, a mission statement for St. Giles. We were challenged to come up with text which would call "forth the best that the church can be." The statement would need to be "grounded, affirmative and memorable." It proved to be a challenging assignment to put into a few words what we represent St. Giles to be, and, after a spirited discussion, we came up with, "St. Giles Episcopal Church is a Buddhism mean to Christians?". Ms. Balant and Mr. Barry will join us. And, since Buddhists enjoy an occasional feast, our discussion will be followed by a luncheon featuring recipes from a Zen Buddhist monastery and retreat center, Christ-centered community with a beautiful, vibrant worship, reaching out with love and active support to each other and the wider community." This mission statement will be subject to community discussion within the parish in which the question will be how we live out the tenets of our mission statement.

Our next assignment was to come up with a list of goals for the parish and then rank them. The list was a long one: create a program of youth ministry for the larger community; enhance the music program (including choir, instrumental music, and contemporary music to appeal to young people and families); build on church special services with music, word and drama; establish a "clothing shelf" to serve the community; strengthen Christian education for children; increase the number of community events; establish a regular adult Bible study program; and bring five new families into the parish.

Later, we were asked to list our dreams for the future of our parish. This assignment, too, resulted in a long list: increase the number of young families; increase interaction with the wider community; recognition of St. Giles as a caring force in the larger community; establish a permanent choir; search for a new permanent priest; continue adult Bible study, and invite people outside the parish to participate.

Bible Study

"Why does God allow suffering?", "Wisdom: Where can it be found?" These were some of the questions explored during the Lenten Bible study, hosted by Don Kraus, which met twice weekly for four sessions. Don lent a learned and enlightened approach to Bible study which was appreciated by the enthusiastic groups which attended. A survey was commissioned to discern when the best time for another series of study would be. Thank you, Don for a marvelous series!

Vestry notes

The vestry met on March 11 and took up a light agenda with the following results:

John Van Siclen reported on his and Pam's trip to Louisiana and Florida where they visited the Grants and the Pickerings. He introduced us to the concept of partnering with the Episcopal Church in Apalachicola with exchange visits, perhaps annually. He will explore this idea further.

We reviewed the plans for the vestry/leadership retreat to be held on March 13.

John Atwood was to prepare surveys for adult Bible education and Healing Services to be distributed on Sundays March 21 and 28.

John V. S. will select a night in June for the ministry teams to meet. He will also make an informal, pastor to pastor, contact with the minister at Water of Life Lutheran Church, consistent with the joint communion we share with the Lutheran Church.

Ken Marden and Betsy Lee will contact Alan Johnston about resurfacing the driveway. [Ken arranged this in record time and the driveway has been regraded!]

George Jones has installed a new phone in the office.
